against the English for their loss in the Falklands War.

In the same game, Diego Maradona scored another major goal in football history. Four minutes after the Hand of God goal came The Goal of the Century, which is often cited as the greatest individual goal of all time. Midfielder Héctor Enrique passed the ball to Maradona inside his own half. Maradona then began his 60-yard, 10-second dash towards the English goal, passing four English outfield players: Peter Beardsley, Peter Reid, Terry Butcher (twice), and Terry Fenwick. Maradona finished the move with a feint that left goalkeeper Peter Shilton stunned and confused and shot the ball into the empty net. Argentina proceeded to win the game 2-1. If anyone doubted the legitimacy of Maradona’s skill after the blatant rule-breaking earlier, now his skill had solidified into an undeniably great play.

Finally, we have the 5 misses of Latypov. In the Beijing 2022 Olympics, one of the events was the Biathlon Men’s Relay. The Russian team consisted of Karim Khalili, Alexander Loginov, Maxim Tsvetkov, and Eduard Latypov. In it, 4 male athletes compete as a team where they do 1 skiing lap, 1 shooting lying down, another skiing lap, another shooting standing up, and a final skiing lap before tagging their teammate who repeats the same cycle. So there are 12 laps, 3 laps per leg, and 1 leg per athlete, and 8 shootings, 2 per athlete. The 3 Russians excelled at the sport, widening their lead to 40 seconds before tagging the final athlete, Eduard Latypov. He skied, and shot his first shooting fantastically, widening their lead to 50 seconds. But then, disaster struck. Upon entering the second shooting, Latypov missed 3 shots and then used his remaining 5 shots to make 3. Each biathlete gets 2 cartridges with 5 shots each and 6 spares, the idea being that you use 1 cartridge per shooting, and 3 spares per shooting, but the spares take more time to load in since they are single bullets. Latypov did his 5 penalty laps and barely scraped a bronze medal for the ROC. He proceeded to collapse and sob on the ground after his loss. The coaches regret how they didn’t tell him to take his time, he rushed through the shooting because he didn’t know how much of a lead he had, if he had been informed of his 50 second lead, he may have gotten silver or gold.
